SERVICE BRIEF

CHALLENGE
There are many elements that make up a strong security program, but it’s hard to determine where to focus valuable time and limited budget. Further complicating this issue are the disparate messages from vendors and service providers on where you should prioritize. Taking an inventory of what you currently have in place, then looking at your level of concern, coverage and ability to execute can help build the foundation for your security decisions.

SOLUTION
Optiv’s Security Program Foundation Assessment (SPFA) provides you with the insights and expertise needed to holistically evaluate and focus your program. First, we pair you with an expert Client Solutions Architect who meets with various constituents across your organization to compare current solutions and controls against our proprietary methodology. We take an inventory of existing solutions and get your subjective feedback on level of concern, coverage and efficacy and score that across six key security program areas. Once we have completed the assessment, we take the information received and deliver a read out which includes top recommendations for action.

BENEFITS

Leverage Wide View of the Security Landscape: Our technical experts understand the breadth and depth of a security program at a high level and can bring that broad view into your organization.

Understand Current Solutions and Controls: Gain a better view of your existing security tools and tactics across various areas.

Discover Areas of Focus: A review of the assessment will identify areas in need of immediate attention and prioritization that weren’t apparent before.

Receive Tactical Next Steps: Optiv provides tactical, focused observations to help you take action in the areas with the highest impact.
